

DEFINING AND PROTECTING YOUR ME-ECONOMICS
with Whitney Hahn

“If you don’t know where you are going, any road will do.”
~ The Cheshire Cat to Alice

Welcome!

All too often, we focus on economic drivers to the exclusion of our ME-conomic drivers. We forget what we are working so hard for, or put our personal goals at the back of the line.

In doing so, we unintentionally make choices we think we “should” make instead of defining and pursuing a destination we actually care deeply about.

- How will you measure your life?
- What do you want people to say about you when you aren’t in the room?
- What goal makes your tail wag to think about it?

Once you’ve defined what really matters to you, you’ll move on to define a few things to do to protect your ME-conomics. By keeping them front and center, you are less likely to be like Alice and desperately GO anyplace you don’t care about.

Where I Want To Be

Now think into the future – next week, next year, or 10 years from now.

What would I want to EXPERIENCE in life
if time and money were not an obstacle?

How do I want to GROW my knowledge, skills,
personal practices, character, etc.?

What are the ways I want to CONTRIBUTE to my family,
community, or the world?

Wish: Granted!

Play the long game - small changes made over time accumulate to either help you live into The Story of You or keep you from it.

	WISH #1	WISH #2	WISH #3
Write it as a SMART goal: Specific, Measurable, Attainable, Relevant, Time-bound.
Make it an inevitable "yes, if." What needs to change?
What can I do this week to bring this one step closer?
What can I do this year toward this goal?
What do I need to say No to in order to protect this?
Who or what do I need to spend time with to become the version of me who can achieve this goal?

Build a business so satisfying, even your vacation is jealous.
